When you move, you can forward your mail for a little while. But eventually you'll need to update your new address permanently but letting everyone know. Here is a list to help you remember what to update:

The Essentials:

- Set up a forwarding address with the post office. You can do this online.
- If a home move, let your employer know, for your paychecks, tax forms, etc.

Financial Updates:

- Notify your bank(s).
- If applicable, notify your loan issuers. Can be business, student, etc.
- Go online and update your credit cards.
- Make sure to update your address for any investment accounts.

Insurance Updates:

- Update your address with your Health Insurance provider.
- Notify your Dental Insurance provider, if not already included with health insurance.
- Notify your life insurance provider.
- Update your address for your car insurance.
- Notify your homeowner or renter's insurance.

Online Services:

- Update your address for your streaming services (Netflix, Hulu, etc.).
- Notify mapping services of new address (Google Business/Maps, Apple Maps, etc.)
